

This is some of the interesting gas industry related news we found today. Enjoy!

Cartel accusations fly as gas industry's insists NT fracking would reduce power prices : Battle lines are drawn between the gas industry and its critics over whether allowing fracking to resume in the Northern Territory could help solve the east coast energy price crisis.

Santa Fe Midstream building Permian natgas assets : Santa Fe Midstream building Permian natgas assets.

How Fossil Fuels Can Flourish : Germany's largest utility remains undeterred about takeover speculation even as key shareholder E.ON could sell its stake. Uniper can actually thrive thanks to the country's renewable energy shift, its CEO said.

EU closer to 'genuine Energy Union' as MEPs support gas supply solidarity : European lawmakers approved on Tuesday (12 September) a new security of gas regulation, which includes a solidarity principle in case of supply disruptions and will make it more difficult for other countries to 'blackmail' the EU's members.

U.S. Natural Gas Arrives in Lithuania : The first-ever delivery of U.S. liquefied natural gas (LNG) to Lithuania on August 21 marks a turning point for the Baltic region's energy markets.

Business Minister encourages investors to look beyond oil : "Oil is not the only thing happening to Guyana," declared Business Minister Dominic Gaskin, as he addressed the Canadian Oil and Gas Trade Mission at the Guyana Marriott Hotel on Monday...

LCResources is a division of Leigh Campbell Pty Ltd (ABN 64 076 477 024) www.lcresources.com.au ph : 61 0417 761458 mail: tony@lcresources.com.au

Why Liddell power plant is a terrible investment : The Albanian government really wants someone, anyone, to buy the Liddell coal-fired power plant. But lessons from Hazelwood should remind any potential buyer that an ageing, dying power plant is often more trouble than it's worth.

Power plants step up buying natural gas after coal shortage : These plants, where Rs 1.24 lakh crore has already been invested, operated at a mere 22.51 per cent plant load factor, producing 49 billion units of electricity, in 2016-17.

AGL pressured to keep coal-fired plant running - The Money Street : Source: Market Watch Personal Finance MELBOURNE, Australia—Plans by one of Australia's largest utilities to phase out coal-fired power stations is running up against a government supportive of the fuel and eager to counter the threat of blackouts by extending the life of the company's oldest plant.

Leading Govt Oil and Gas Companies Recruiting Now - UAE : Five Continents Technical & Industrial Services Establishment is dedicated in providing manpower leading-govt-oil-gas-companies-recruiting-now-uae

Firms boost gas distribution in Lagos : "The project started in October 2015, when Shoreline Power, a subsidiary of Shoreline Energy took a 75% stake in Gasland, who had been granted the Lekki gas distribution franchise for these areas by the former

Drivers may face long wait for gas to return to South Florida stations : South Florida drivers searching for gas now that Hurricane Irma has departed may have a long wait ahead of them.

Oil, Gas to become world's primary energy source by 2035 - Vanguard News : Despite the call for the development of alternative energy resources, oil and gas that Nigeria depends on for foreign exchange generation would continue to dominate the world's energy mix by 2035.

Energy policy uncertainty blamed for price rises, investment delays : Energy policy uncertainty blamed for price rises, investment delays

Australia's energy reliability certain for only next two years: AEMC : Australia's energy reliability certain for only next two years: AEMC